In Support of a Great Cause

The Sports Museum is a non-profit organization that leverages the impact of sports in Boston to captivate and motivate at-risk youth through educational programs that puts them on the path to success in school -- and in life.

For more almost 50 years, The Sports Museum has celebrated the championship character of Boston sports and we continue to do so through a half-mile of exhibits at TD Garden. However, supporting The Sports Museum today means so much more: it fuels the outreach programs that make a difference in the lives of our young people.

- Programs like BOSTON vs. BULLIES, an award-winning program featuring Charlie Coyle, Grant Williams, and other current Boston athletes that is designed to stop bullying in our schools and our community at large
- And programs such as STAND STRONG, an experiential program built around the hallmarks of good character – namely, Teamwork, Determination, Responsibility, Courage, and Fairness

Boston sports has power. Through programs like Boston vs. Bullies and Stand Strong, The Sports Museum has found a way to harness that power to help kids. It is a winning game plan that is producing championship-level results.
